

Canadian

INTERIORS

CDN $6.95
JANUARY FEBRUARY 2019

Alberta Bound

Sarah Ward proves the saying is right and we should go west.

Lounging in airports, hotels and domes.

caught our eye

Raise a Glass One of the granddaddies in luxury hospitality has opened its first Canadian outpost: The St. Regis Toronto. Ignore for a second what name this building used to carry and focus on what it is now: 258 suites designed by Chapi Chapo Design and culinary venues by DesignAgency, including the lobby-level Astor Lounge and the Louix Louis restaurant on the 31st floor (shown), with a dramatic crystal glass interior inviting patrons to consider what the world would look like from inside a whiskey tumbler. www.louixlouis.com